For example, imagine some food company decides to make their fruits permanently free. Online, you can "order" them (for free), but in person, what do you do? What would be the ...

Similarly, "free education" is funded by the state (which is ultimately financed by taxpayers) and taught in state-run schools called state schools whereas schools that charge tuition ...

A friend claims that the phrase for free is incorrect. Should we only say at no cost instead?

What is the opposite of free as in "free of charge" (when we speak about prices)? We can add not for negation, but I am looking for a single word.

I want to make a official call and ask the other person whether he is free or not at that particular time. I think asking, "Are you free now?" does't sound formal. So, are there any alternatives ...

If so, my analysis amounts to a rule in search of actual usage--a prescription rather than a description. In any event, the impressive rise of "free of" against "free from" over the past 100 years ...
